

Yawkey Baseball League to Pause 2026 Season, Plans Return in 2027

Boston, MA — The Yawkey Baseball League (YBL) announced today that it will take a planned hiatus for the 2026 season, with the intention of returning to play for the 2027 season.

This decision follows a period of internal review and discussion focused on the long-term sustainability and overall health of the league. League leadership determined that a one-season pause will allow time to strengthen organizational operations, support teams and players more effectively, and position the league for continued success in future seasons.

“The Yawkey Baseball League has a proud tradition and a strong community of players, coaches, and supporters,” said league officials. “Taking the 2026 season off is a proactive step that allows us to regroup, plan, and ensure that we come back in 2027 as strong as possible.”

During the 2026 hiatus, the league will focus on administrative planning, evaluating league structure, and exploring opportunities for growth and improvement. YBL leadership remains committed to maintaining communication with member teams and stakeholders throughout this period.

The Yawkey Baseball League looks forward to returning to the field in 2027 and continuing its longstanding mission of providing competitive, high-quality amateur baseball.

Additional updates regarding the league’s return will be shared as plans are finalized via our social media platforms and on yawkeybaseball.com.
